REPORT.

THE Committee are desirous to make known the result of the first year's existence of the School of Art. The number of pupils who have joined during the year proves that instruction in Drawing and Painting was much needed in Cambridge, whilst the progress of many of the Students encourages the Committee to expect from the Government Inspector a favourable report at the examination in February next. The operations of the School have been somewhat cramped by the insufficiency of the present premises, though the Committee are glad to bear testimony to the continued assiduity of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis in affording every available accommodation, and in attending to the requirements of the Students. It gives the Committee great pleasure to announce that the Town Council have included apartments for the School of Art in their advertisement for plans of a new Guildhall. The School was opened on November 1st, 1858; the greatest number of fees received during any one month since that time is 103; this number was reached in February last.

The Public Schools under instruction by the Art-Master, are:

Barnwell Boys' School.
St. Paul's Boys' School.
King Street Boys' School.
British Boys' School.
British Girls' School.
Perse School.

In order to extend the benefits of Art teaching to a larger number of National Schools, the Department of Science and Art have granted the services of an Art Pupil Teacher.

The Managing Committee arranged an excursion to Cherryhinton on the 22nd of July, and offered a prize of 1*l.* 1*s.* to the best drawing of the church at Cherryhinton executed during the afternoon. The prize was adjudged to Mr. Bowyer, and a second prize for a hedge-side study was awarded to Miss E. A. Hutt. Several other drawings were highly commendable. About eighty of the pupils and their friends joined the party, and the Committee have reason to believe that the excursion gave general satisfaction.

The commencement of a School of Art necessarily entailed a very heavy outlay for desks, fittings, copies, &c., and a small balance is due to the Treasurer; but the Committee confidently anticipate that at the close of the present year that balance will be paid, and that for the future the School will be quite self-supporting.

A Balance-sheet is appended to the Report.
